Early Childhood Intervention Services

ECIS

The Tasmanian Association of State School Organisations (TASSO) welcome the Minister for Education and Training Jeremy Rockliff's announcement on the continuation of the Early Childhood Intervention Services. ECIS plays a critical role in supporting children with disabilities and their families.

"It's unfortunate that the roll out of the NDIS has threatened the closure of the centres and the provision of services, which has caused a great deal of stress and concern for all those involved. One would like to see the ECIS continue on, working alongside the roll out of the NDIS, so our children with disabilities have their needs met."
